Rotarians Hear Message From President J. A. Hill.

DEPRESSION TALKED

McKenzie Says Better Understanding of All People.

What the depression has done to America, by Rev. E. C. McKenzie, and what the State Board of Education would do to W. T., by Joe Hill were subjects discussed Tuesday at the luncheon of the Rotary Club. The program was in charge of the Rural-urban Acquaintance Committee, Walter Upchurch and J. H. Cox, Jr., in charge.

The birthdays of W. A. Warren and Fred Wortham were recognized.

Visitors present were Neal Griggs, Dr. Puckett, Frank Storm, A. P. Lotts, Phillips Lotts, W. S. Norman of Amarillo, J. S. Humphreys, H. R. Fulton, J. P. Upchurch, Albert Eyars, George Cox, C. C. Stewart, E. Gidden, and R. O. Allison of Canyon.

Miss Margaret Hanley and Bill Patton, accompanied by Elaine Ryan, gave two dance numbers.

President Oscar Gano announced the On to Boston committee, composed of W. A. Warren, Clyde Warwick and Dr. S. L. Ingham, and the On to San Angelo committee, composed of Irby Carruth, Lee Johnson and Doug Shirley.

Rev. McKenzie stated that the depression had broadened our vision, deepened our sympathy and quickened our sense of need to those around us. It has brought us together so that we better understand each other. For 6,000 years we have preached the Fatherhood of God and the Brotherhood of man, but few really believed it. Now we understand it.

The depression has broken down casts. Time was that there were business men, professional men, and farmers. These casts were not good for us. Today the business and professional classes are broke, and its members are just "one of the boys." We have all settled down to real living, and will like it before this thing is over. We are more sympathetic to the down and out, because no one knows how soon he will be in that class.

The farmers were the first to feel the depression, and will therefore be the first to feel the improvement. So long as they stay down, there can be no chance of recovery for the rest of the country. The producer must make a profit on his products.

The great need today is in unity of thought and action.

Talk on College

Joe Hill explained that a number of Rotarians and other Canyon citizens had heard a discussion in Amarillo last Thursday on the report of the Board of Education.

Check Up on Tax Payments Are Not Fully Completed

While Tuesday was the final day for tax payments before penalties are imposed, reports from the court house indicate that it will be several days before a check up may be made to fully estimate the amount of taxes which were collected.

Tax Collector Bob Barnett stated that the last week's collections seemed to be about normal in amount, but he had not found the total for the year. A report on the total payments, and of the poll taxes paid together with car licenses issued will not be available for several days.

J. W. Shanklin states that the school taxes are short in the number of payments after all receipts have been issued. Just what the school trustees will be able to do in regard to the situation will not be determined for several days.

Car licenses seemed yesterday to be short, and citizens expressed hope that the legislature would extend the date for payment until the first of March.

Mrs. Sidney J. Clark of Hollis, Okla., came Sunday to be with her mother, Mrs. J. A. Price, who has been seriously ill for two weeks.

Mrs. John Knight Recalls Indian Scare Which Happened 42 Years Ago

(The following true story was contributed by Mrs. John Knight, a pioneer of the early days, who has given us several interesting stories remembered by old-timers of this section.)

The most exciting event which ever occurred in Canyon was the Indian scare of January, 1891, when the news came that a band of Indians, 500 strong, was coming from Salsbury, Hall County to Canyon, after a battle with the cowboys there. A resident of the town, having gone to Amarillo for supplies (there was no railroad through Canyon then), brought the first report, which was verified the next morning by the mail hack driver. The excitement began then in earnest. Many of the town people who could get conveyance went to Amarillo, leaving only about a half dozen families to "hold down the fort." By the middle of the afternoon many country people had come in to town to join the town forces, the hack-driver having spread the report as he traveled south.

The people gathered at the court house for protection, and the men brought their guns and formed plans to meet and repulse the Indians when they arrived.

Mr. W. F. Heller and Mr. Al Hammond were chosen captains, as they were the only ones who had had experience in fighting Indians. The men under their direction soon dug trenches around the court house. The fighters were to hide in these and shoot as the enemy came in view. The women and children were to remain in the court house out of danger, as long as the Indians could be prevented from setting it on fire.

Meanwhile the day wore on. Some went to their homes for dinner, but returned in the afternoon and anxiously awaited developments.

The sheriff, Sam Wise, and Mr. Jim Patton, county clerk, went to Amarillo to learn what they could about the situation, (as there were no telephones, and no cars). It was sundown when they came back and reported that the whole thing was a false alarm. So the people drew a long sigh of relief when they heard the news, but their anger at the mail carrier was very thoroughly aroused. Many of the people were too far from home to return so late that evening, and had to remain over night in the court house, as most of the homes in town were too small to accomodate visitors.

But the next day they left town and returned to the country, and the "refugees" who had fled to Amarillo returned to Canyon, and there was much rejoicing and thankfulness over the escape from the imagined danger.

Many humorous incidents were related by those who fled to Amarillo and left the rest to whatever fate might befall them, but those remaining felt that the joke was on the others who had run for their own safety, instead of joining forces with their neighbors. And it still makes interesting conversation when old-timers get together and talk of pioneer days.

Upchurch Says Its Time To Prune Grapes

Perhaps the surest fruit crop in the Texas Panhandle is Grapes. Farmers who have a few grape vines of good varieties and give them proper attention are reasonably sure of fruit every year. The two important things in growing grapes that are so often neglected are pruning and spraying.

Many good vines are ruined because of neglect at pruning time. Pruning should be done in January or February. In some seasons when the warm weather comes late it may be done in the early part of March. However, in a normal spring season March pruning is likely to damage the vines. A common mistake in pruning is to leave too much growth on the vine. This results in the vines producing fruit and new growth too far from the main stem and after a few years the vines become badly overloaded with old wood. There are several systems of pruning designed to hold the fruit growth near the main stem of the vines. I will be glad to demonstrate methods of grape pruning to as many farmers as possible during February.

Another very important thing to remember in grape growing is to spray the vines with arsenate of lead just before and just after the bloom appears. A very small green work often eats the bloom before the leaves get out. This results in either no fruit, or thin ragged bunches. This worm is easily killed by the application of a strong arsenate of lead spray before the blooms appear (about 3 pounds to 50 gallons of water) and another spray 8 or 10 days later using about 2 pounds of lead to 50 gallons of water.

W. H. UPCHURCH.

Funeral Services Held Monday for William Black, Jr.

William A. Black, Jr., died Sunday in an Amairllo hospital, following an operation for appendicitis. The boy was 12 years of age, and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Black. He was a student in the Canyon public schools.

The funeral services were held Monday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock at the Baptist Church, conducted by Rev. J. R. Hicks. Interment followed in Dreamland cemetery under the direction of the Griggs-Thompson Funeral Home.

Surviving the deceased are his parents, one brother, Trom Black, and three sisters, Mrs. E. A. Gilbert of Brazos; Mrs. Ed Ely of Amarillo; and Miss Norma Lee Black of Canyon.

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Park of Amarillo were in Canyon Sunday evening visiting friends. They were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Foster.

950 Cows Listed For Testing Which Will Start Feb. 20

W. H. Upchurch is urging that all owners of dairy cows list them for testing this week if they wish to take advantage of the special low rates for testing. Only 950 cows had been listed up to Tuesday, which is a considerable reduction over the number tested last year. Officers of the Randall County Dairymen's Association will make arrangements this week for the test, and it is necessary to know how many cows there are to be tested, as this number will govern the price to be charged. Cow owners who wish to have a tset made at a later date will have to pay a much higher price.

The City Commission recently called upon all owners of cows in Canyon, and all who sell milk in the city to have their cows tested. While the city does not have a milk ordinance, owing to the cost enforcement, the commission is urging that all who sell milk within the city limits have their cows tested in order to protect the people of the city from the dangers of tuberculosis.

BUFFS TO MEET GOLDBUGS HERE IN TWO GAMES

Friday and Saturday to See More Thrills in Games.

VISITORS STRONG

Oklahoma City University Team Strengthened For Game.

This week end the Buffaloes will be at home again, this time entertaining the Oklahoma City University Goldbugs on Friday and Saturday evening.

The Buffs took a game from the Bugs early in the season when they were on a road trip, but the Bugs were minus the services of their scoring ace who was out at the time with a pulled muscle. Since that time they have shown a lot of improvement, and should make the Buffs hustle for every point.

In the two Pepper Brothers the Bugs have a real scoring threat. Big Pepper stands 6 feet 4 inches tall and weighs 220 pounds and at their first meeting mixed the tip with Joe "College" Fortenberry of the Buffs right smartly. Little Pepper stands about 5 feet 11 inches and is one of the fastest men on the court that the Buffs have met this year. He is a deadly shot when left open to shoot.

The games will start promptly at 8:00 o'clock; general admission 50c; reserved seats 5c extra. Students will be admitted on the regular blanket tax.

Chinese Coin Found on T-Anchor Farm is Given to the Museum

One of the most unusual gifts to be presented to the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society is a Chinese coin found recently by Prof. T. M. Moore in the old T-Anchor ranch headquarters building on the grounds of the College farm.

The coin has been identified by Dr. C. A. Pierle, member of the college faculty and one time resident of China, as one minted in the reign of Tseng Cheng, last of the Ming emperors, who ruled between the years 1657 and 1666. It was valued at approximately one-tenth of a cent, American money. The coin has been placed in the T-Anchor collection in the museum.

How the coin found its way to the T-Anchor ranch is unknown, but it is supposed that the ranch owners may have at some time employed a Chinese cook.

94 Years Old; and Never Called on a Doctor

C. H. Rowe was 94 years of age on Nov. 5th, and has never called upon a doctor for medical assistance. He is as spry as any man 60 years of age, and is usually guessed to be not a day older than 65 years.

Mr. Rowe has been a citizen of Canyon for 3 months. He traded land near McLean for the D. M. Thomas place on Second Ave, but still owns more than 1,000 acres of good farm land near McLean.

Mr. Rowe was born in Rochester, N. Y., but has been a resident of the Southwest for 65 years; 28 years in Kansas, 4 years in Oklahoma and 33 years in Texas.

Coming to Canyon to make his home, Mr. Rowe states that he will take things easy for awhile, having always lived a most active life and worked hard.

Nigger Minstrel to be Staged February 7th at High School

Citizens of Canyon and students of the high school are practicing for the Nigger Minstrel which will be staged at the high school auditorium on the night of February 7th. The Minstrel is being staged under the direction of Superintendent Irby Carruth. The proceeds will be used for athletic awards and the library fund.

The admission charge will be 15 cents for grade school pupils, 25 cents for high school pupils, and 35 cents for town people.

Legislature Would Extend Time Payment of Car Tags

Both houses of the legislature has passed a bill extending the final date for securing the new 1933 license plates for automobiles. The House of Representatives has set the extension date as March 1st, while the Senate has the date of April 1st. Governor Ferguson has indicated that 90 days' extension would not be too much.

It is expected that the difference in time will be adjusted today, and the bill sent to the Governor.

Last night was the final time for accepting car license payments under the old law, and collectors cannot issue plates until a new law becomes effective.

SPOKE IN AMARILLO

Mrs. J. A. Hill, president of the Seventh District Federation of Women's Clubs, spoke Tuesday and presided at the installation of the Potter County federation officers.

Mrs. Clyde Warwick, secretary of the district, talked on the subject, "Intelligent Voting."

"Of Thee I Sing" To Be Staged On February 13

The only musical comedy in history to win the Pulitzer Prize as a stage attraction will be brought to Amarillo the night of Monday, February 13. It is "Of Thee I Sing," a brilliant satire on national politics.

It will be a red letter event for all the Panhandle. Already reservations are pouring into the office of Wilbur C. Hawk, who booked the attraction, and indications are that the audience will represent every section of this area.

Only one performance will be given—the one at night; and those wishing choice locations are urged to apply early.

"Of Thee I Sing" is the largest company on tour today. Although it is a musical comedy and not a revue, as was Earl Carroll's Vanities, there are more people in the company and more technicians are required to handle the show than was the case with the Vanities.

The cast is the same that played several successful weeks in Chicago, then went to Detroit, St. Louis and other large northern and middle-western cities. Oscar Shaw, a celebrated star of the dramatic and musical comedy stage, has the leading role, with Harriette Lake, Donald Meek and Cecil Lean having other prominent parts.

"Of Thee I Sing" has a definite plot, albeit there are comedians and chorus girls aplenty. It concerns the nomination and campaign of a presidential candidate, whose slogan is "Put Love in the White House." It is screamingly funny, and every scene is a sizzling satire on some phase of national politics. It is in two acts and 11 scenes. George S. Kaufman and Morrie Ryskind wrote the book; George Gershwin of "Rhapsody in Blue" fame, wrote the music and Ira Gershwin, his brother, the lyrics.

It was last season's greatest musical comedy smash on Broadway.

Advance reservations may be made by writing Wilbur C. Hawk at the News-Globe, or by calling Miss Lois Black, 6262.

The prices are $1.10, $1.65, $2.20, $2.75 and $3.30.

Out-of-town patrons are asked to send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with the remittance for the return of the tickets.

LUBBOCK WILL AID CANYON IN COLLEGE FIGHT

Visitors Here Monday to Discuss Situation at Austin.

NEED FOR COLLEGES

Man Will Assist Judge J. D. Hamlin For Schools.

Headed by Dr. Bradford Knapp, President of the Texas Technological College, a delegation from Lubbock, composed of A. B. Davis, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, Charles Guy of the Daily Avalanche, and C. E. Maeddgen of the Lubbock State Bank, visited in the city Monday conferring with Dr. J. A. Hill and a few citizens regarding the college situation in Texas. At a luncheon given at the College the following Canyon men conferred with the visitors: Mayor C. R. Burrow, D. A. Shirley T. C. Thompson, Dr. R. P. Jarrett, Senator J. W. Reid, and Clyde W. Warwick.

The reports of the Economy and Efficiency Committee and of the State Board of Education recommend that agriculture and engineering be removed from Tech to A. & M. College, and that it be made a Liberal Arts College. Dr. Knapp stated that these committees have not recognized the fact that the trend of students today is toward definite vocations, which included teacher training, and away from the general liberal arts colleges. He states that fully 65% of all of the students of Tech start with definite vocations as a goal when they enter as freshmen, yet these committees would make the school into a general institution.

"There is room enough in northwest Texas for both the colleges at Canyon and Lubbock, and they should remain as they are," stated Dr. Knapp. He expressed the greatest friendship toward Canyon, and wished to co-operate in every way with the institution here to keep it a four-year standard teacher training institution.

The movement on the part of Canyon to send Judge J. D. Hamlin to Austin was greatly praised, and at a meeting in Lubbock Friday another outstanding West Texas citizen will be sent to Austin to assist Judge Hamlin in the fight.

Dr. J. A. Hill left last night for Austin where he will confer today with Senators Clint Small and Arthur Duggan, Representatives H. K. Stanfield and A. B. Tarwater, regarding the situation. A meeting of the Board of Regents for Teachers Colleges will be held in San Marcos Monday at which time a definite program for all of the teachers colleges will be adopted. Dr. Knapp expects to join Dr. Hill in Austin next week to discuss with the other presidents the question of summer schools and other legislation affecting the colleges of the state.

Must Close Plan for Museum Floor During This Week

L. F. Sheffy stated yesterday that plans must be completed this week as to whether or not a floor would be put in the basement of the new museum building of the Panhandle - Plains Historical Society.

Appeal was made last week that $600 be contributed at once in order that the floor might be completed. It is figured that it will cost at least $900 to put in the floor at a later date, therefore the necessity of doing this work at the present time. Donations on labor and materials will be made if the work is done now, which will not likely be possible at some later time.

Mr. Sheffy urges that citizens of Canyon who owe subscriptions on the new building to make payments this week, and requests others who have not made donations to see him this week in order that the floor may be completed.

R. W. Ratcliff who has been working at Pampa the past few weeks, has been at home here since Tuesday of last week.

Roy Tate and family were guests of his brother in Plainview last Sunday.

It is discouraging for those who have given their life to the school profession to see the bitter fight that is being waged to tear down, in the name of economy, the work of their lifetime. However, the present fight is not confined to any section or state. It is universally the condition in America. Urged on by public spirited citizens who were ambitious to see the best developed in each and every community, the schools have grown and expanded, in many instances beyond the ability of the communities or the states to support them. Now that the depression has wiped out financially many of the friends of education, and reduced all lines of business to a point far below the point of profit, it is quite natural that an attack should be made upon those institutions which have grown to the greatest degree. When a man is either out of a job, or barely making a living, he cannot help but wonder why the school teacher should continue to work for a fairly good salary, or even an extravagant salary in times like these. He is prone to forget that only a few years ago this same teacher was teaching at a much lower salary while every man in the community who wanted work could demand a wage perhaps two or three times that drawn by the teacher. Now that school teaching has become profitable as an occupation, it is subjected to criticism. The Saturday Evening Post and other national publications have turned their guns of criticism upon the schools. Those engaged in the school profession and those who understand the situation should take the lead in correcting whatever evils there may exist in the system. If they do not do so, those on the outside, who have no knowledge of the schools will dominate in the program of retrenchment which will do violence to the entire system.

A young man at Wellington is the innocent victim of a wave of crime which swept over this section last week resulting in the death of the sheriff at Tulia and the deputy at Rhome. The young man failed to stop his car on the highway when hailed by officers who sought the criminals and was shot dead by a citizen who had been sworn in as deputy without previous experience as a peace officer. It will be a wonder if other innocent men or women do not suffer the same fate in the search for these criminals. The officers cannot be blamed for being alert when informed that the suspect may be headed in their direction; on the other hand with so much highjacking, the public cannot be blamed for being careful about stopping at signals on the highway. The seriousness of the situation demands great care on the part of both the officers and the citizens lest other innocent people be killed before the criminals are caught.

It took a lot of nerve for James E. Ferguson to drive from the Governor's office the hundreds of office seekers who were there to seek places in the new administration. Hundreds of them had been staunch followers of the Fergusons for years past. Mr. Ferguson gave these office seekers sage advice in demanding that they leave Austin and return to their homes. Those who follow the political life of administration appointees will vouch that it is a most unsatisfactory existence. No sooner is the job landed than demands are made to continue in office the holder or the friends of the holder lest a change in administration will wipe out their appointment. Political existence at Austin, with possible changes every two years, and plenty of agitation all the time is not a very satisfactory existence.

The State Board of Education hits at athletics in the high schools, especially the practice of playing all football games on Friday instead of on Saturday. The News agrees with this report and suggests to the superintendents and coaches of the Panhandle that no games be scheduled this year on any day but Saturday. The taxpayers should not be burdened with the expense of carrying on a school system which functions only four days of the week during the football season.

Officers of the Parent-Teachers Association are asking that patrons of the Canyon public schools take more interest in the work of the organization, and not only join the organization, but also attend its meetings. It is very difficult for the Parents-Teachers to carry on the necessary work, if those who should be interested in the activities fail or refuse to take interest. An urgent invitation is extended to all patrons of the school to become affiliated with the P. T. A. and to co-operate in making a better school in Canyon.

Wonders will never cease. Tom Love now joins Jim Ferguson in asking the legislature to pass a sales tax. There must be something mighty good in the argument for such a tax or two men so diametrically opposed to each other could never get together.

The fall of the governments in France and Germany has added to the confusion existing in Europe.

Some Well-Known Women Who Have Arrived

Three feminine celebrities who have arrived, two into the United States and the other into the wedded state, are shown here. The wedding of Dorothy Knapp, left, famous showgirl, and Jack Edmonds of Montreal, Canada, at Rouses Point, N. Y., has been announced. Johanna C. Kolstad, center, of Norway, world champion woman ski-jumper, is here to demonstrate her ability before Chicagoans. And Hollywood is welcoming another European film star in the person of Lilian Harvey, right, who will appear in American films.

Wm. H. Chamberlin Will Lecture Monday p. m. on Russia

Having informed American readers of what is going on in Russia during the last ten years in the columns of the Christian Science Monitor, William Henry Chamberlin has returned to his native land for a brief visit and will continue his work by means of the spoken word. He is scheduled for a special address here next Monday evening, February 6, under the auspices of the Lyceum Committee of W. T. S. T. C.

Chamberlin is the author of "Soviet Russia," a book still regarded as the best single book so far written about Russia since the Revolution. So complete is it that its publishers bring out a new edition every year, completely revised and brought up to date by Mr. Chamberlin.

Mr. Chamberlin's trips in Russia have totaled tens of thousands of miles, one of the longest being in 1930 to the opening of the Turkish Railroad and to the cities of Soviet Central Asia, Samarkand and Bokhara. During recent years he has annually left Moscow for extensive trips to study the new industrial development and the progress of agricultural collectivism under the Five-Year Plan. In giving his audience the meat of all he has learned during his ten years in Russia, Mr. Chamberlin will answer the "hows and whys" of Soviet Russia more completely, more accurately, and more entertainingly than has ever been done before.

He speaks easily, has a rich fund of stories and local color, and will give a better understanding of what has happened and what is to happen in Soviet Russia than can be gathered from the reading of many books.

Born in Brooklyn, New York, in 1897, he became a newspaper man, following his graduation from Haverford College, since journalism ran in his blood—his father and grandfather having been newspaper men before him. He married in 1920 to Sonya Trostan, a Russion born American citizen. His daughter, Nadyeshdo, was born in Moscow in 1927.

He speaks the Russian language fluently and is steeped in Russian history and literature.

Consider the little pin—its flat head never sees the point.

GRAD STUDENT USES SUBJECT OF PALO DURO

MRS. WALLRABENSTEIN HAS DEVELOPED PARK PROJECT IN WORK HERE.

"How Can the Palo Duro Canyon Become a Part of W. T.," is the title of problem study recently completed by Mrs. Jessie Wallrabenstein, a student in W. T.'s Graduate School.

The work is profusely illustrated with maps and scenes from the Palo Duro, and gives numerous suggestions as to how this scenic spot in the Panhandle can be utilized by the various departments of W. T. and the citizens of this section.

Mrs. Wallrabenstein developed her discussion from the thesis that the amount of leisure time is increasing rapidly for the average citizen, and undertakes to prove that Panhandle folks need not go far from home to find recreation. It is further shown that the most important and valuable places of this kind in the Panhandle area are in the hands of private individuals, most of whom are absentee owners living in large eastern cities.

The study suggests that the Palo Duro Canyon be made into a park open to the public, and definite pointers are given as to the planning of such a project. How the park could be used as recreation grounds, for nature study, for art appreciation and permant camps is discussed in detail.

The work is accompanied by maps which show in minute form the topography of the entire Canyon district. On the maps are marked the places of interest and the value thereof to the vacationer.

This study of Mrs. Wallrabenstein's is especially outstanding, in that it brings to a focus the issues in a project the people of the Panhandle have been contemplating a long time.

Mrs. Wallrabenstein is a graduate of Fairmont State Teachers College, Fairmont, W. Va., taking the B. A. degree there in 1929. She has also attended the Cleveland School of Art at Cleveland, Ohio. Her special field is in Art.

C. N. Harrison, Chas. McAfee, and J. H. Garrison are all up north to return with next week's excursion.

A call meeting of the Book Club at Mrs. Sterling Coffee's on Feb. 5th at 4 p. m. A full attendance is desired.

The price of all classes of cattle is sure to advance by spring, unless the well established rule of supply and demand is set at naught. The News all along last year made this statement and now the proof is almost in sight.

Miss Minnie Hitchcock, who attended school in Denton, has returned home.

Mrs. Chas. McDade returned Monday from Fort Worth where she has been visiting relatives and friends for the past month. Charlie met her at Amarillo and after spending the night with friends, Mr. and Mrs. John Hibdon, they went to their home on the Gallagher ranch Tuesday morning.

Among those coming in last week were H. J. Weber of Jefferson, Iowa. His family came with him, his two cars of household effects, stock, etc. being on the way. J. E. Winkleman of the same place will move down next trip—one week hence.

Frank Ames, returning from a visit to Cordell, Oklahoma, last week immediately took his residence property here off the market at the price he had fixed on it before starting. Must be something wrong in Oklahoma.

3 Continental employees, members of their families and others connected directly or indirectly cannot compete.
4 Should more than one person submit exactly the same name or slogan, each will receive full amount of any prize such entry may win. All entries become Continental Oil Co. property, and none will be returned.
5 The Company reserves prior rights to phrases and slogans of its own creation, already in prepared advertising. Also it reserves the names "Continental" or "Conoco" gasoline, "Conogas", and "101" gasoline. Whether or not the winning contest name is adopted, prize money will be paid; but the Company reserves the right to use a name of its own creation if decided more suitable and more protectable under trade-mark laws.
6 No purchase is required of contestants. Continental Oil Co. executives will be the judges and their decisions final. Winners will be announced over radio, and prize money paid as soon as possible after contest closes.

Address All Entries to "CONTEST OFFICIAL" Continental Oil Company Ponca City, Okla.

You'll say:
"Whoa, Engine! what's got into you?"
Here's gas to excite motors. It makes them quick on the trigger . . . fast on the move. Choking is hardly required for a quick, snappy start and a take-off like a quail on the wing.
Even old motors . . . wheezy, snorting, complaining motors . . . cut capers you just can't believe. If you doubt it, just try it. It's like rich, racing blood injected into old veins.
This gasoline is so new . . . so "different" . . . so quick, fast, powerful, and economical, it's hard to give it a name. Perhaps YOU can. When you FEEL your motor's response, it may come to you like a flash.
Ask at any Conoco station for the new bronze-colored, high-test gasoline—and an entry Blank. Help name it and describe it. You may win a part of $10,000.00. You are SURE to win a grand, new thrill, and that is worth a heap. Make the test TODAY.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

FRED E. WORTHAM, Secretary

The Dallas News recently presented this argument regarding active Chambers of Commerce in the smaller cities and towns.

Small Towns Need Them

What the small town needs in times like these is a chamber of commerce with vision and grit to stick it out. In the main that will mean four or five business men with judgment to keep their own affairs solvent and courage enough to believe that now is the little town's chance. For, with half a dozen live men, or even less, your small town is better off proportionately than the great city can ever hope to be in that regard.

You can say that farm land down to $10 and $15 an acre is a calamity—and so it is to the man who used to lend money on it at $40 and $50 an acre. But for the man who wants to get started as a land owner it is an opportunity of a life time. It is so with the little towns. When big towns are gasping for breath and taxation is squeezing the life out of business the little town with its low site values, its simple yet adequate facilities, its flexible town plan and admirable health advantages, has something to sell.

To be sure, it is sheer foolishness to ask a small town these days to spend a lot of money trying to get United States Steel to move Pittsburg to Village Center. But Village Center can be clean, it can be neat, it can have an attractive wayside place of refreshment to inveigle the traveler to stop a while and dine. It can go partners with larger towns in seeking roads, railway rates and the like. It can help growers make special marketing arrangements with big city hotels, canning plants and so on. It can promote farm progress and home happiness in the lands that lie around about its door. It can provoke householders to handsomer gardens, trimmer lawns and more convenient premises. In short, it can be the very making of a town personality so unmistakable, so individual and so attractive as to win admiration and respect from every beholder. Collective courage is what we need. Chambers of Commerce supply it.

RESOLUTIONS

Whereas, our Heavenly Father in his divine wisdom has removed from our midst our beloved sister, Daisy Donnell, wife of Dr. C. E. Donnell. Sister Donnell was a devoted, sacrificing, Christian, patient suffered, always in a hopeful, joyous spirit. When she was not able to attend the church or its activities, she would do what she could by letter or telephone to carry on the work. Her home was always a welcome place for the young people as well as the old. She was a friend to the needy, and faithful in anything she undertook. She was a wonderful mother, a loving and devoted wife. Her life was an inspiration to all who knew her. She has bravely faced the Gethsemane and all Heaven must have shouted when they welcomed her beautiful spirit. Her gain is our loss. We miss her, but she has passed on where

"There is no death, the stars go down
To rise upon some fairer shore,
And brighten Heaven's jeweled crown,
They shine forever more.
Passing out of the shadow
Into eternal day
Why do we call this dying—
This sweet going away?"

We hereby extend to the loved ones our deepest sympathy and condolence.

Be it further resolved that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon our minutes, and a copy sent to our local paper, to the family and to the Baptist Standard.

Respectfully submitted,
W. M. S. COMMITTEE,
Mrs. G. R. Reid
Mrs. Henry Long
Mrs. G. B. Combs.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our thanks and appreciation for the kindness and sympathy of our friends during the illness and death of our loved one, wife and daughter.

Well-Balanced Youngster

This vehicle which Peter Mole, Jr., six-year-old Los Angeles youngster, is riding is the latest thing in free wheeling. He has only one wheel and no handlebars to bother about, which leaves his hands free for his school books and lunch. Peter learned the stunt from his father, a trick bike rider.

Learns Navigation From Books, Sails to U. S. From Australia in 18-Foot Skiff

SAN PEDRO, Calif.,—Men often go down to the sea in ships, return and marry the girl left behind. With Fred Rebell of Australia, however, things were different. He went down to the sea after the girl married someone else—"just to show her that I have real stuff in me."

Now, wherever she is, the girl knows Fred Rebell has that "real stuff." Setting a new mark for nerve—and luck—in single-handed ocean cruising, Rebell has just arrived here after a year-long, 8000-mile lone voyage from Sydney in his 18-foot sailing skiff, Elaine. And, strangely enough, the boat is named after the girl who turned him down.

Rebell, who won the title of Australia's "height of folly" navigator when he arrived here, determined to make his long voyage after reading accounts of Harry Pidgeon, Los Angeles' lone globe-circler, and his four-year world cruise in the yawl Islander. Never before at sea, Rebell, a contractor, learned navigation from books in three weeks.

Then he built the Elaine and set out on his daring voyage. The boat is an ordinary 18-foot skiff with only an oiled-canvas canopy over the open cockpit, has a beam of but five feet and a 20-inch free-board. His only navigating equipment was a home-made sextant, three bits of colored glass, two dollar watches and ordinary pilot charts.

Rebell's only stops on his voyage were at Apia, British Samoa; Danger Island, Christmas Island and Honolulu. He was never in want of food or water. In fact, he still has part of the rice, flour and dried salmon with which he sailed from Sydney on December 31, 1931. He cooked on a tiny stove, stuck inside a five-gallon tin for safety.

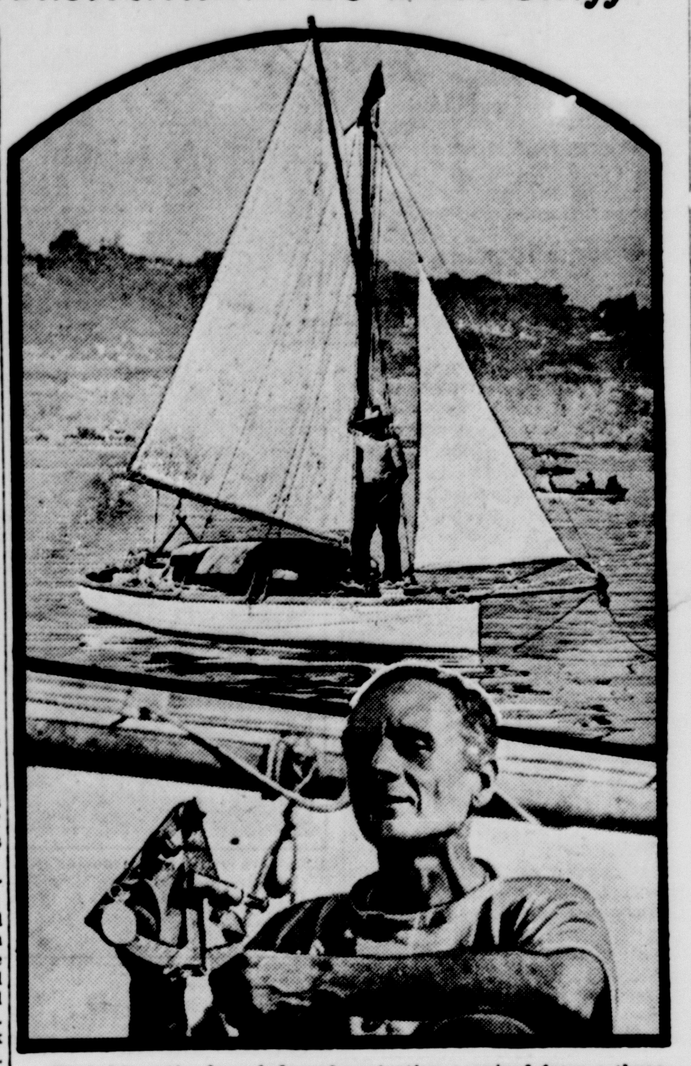
"I WAS in great danger only once," Rebell explained, "and then almost within sight of San Pedro harbor. As I was nearing the coast of California a week ago, I encountered a northerly gale which that night and the next day almost wrote 'finis' to the voyage.

"The storm twice broke the tiller, ripped both mainsail and jib to shreds, carried away the anchor and parted most of the running rigging. But luck was with me, and I managed to reach port." The Elaine, when Rebell arrived here, showed full evidence of the ordeal. Sails were patched and rigging mended in rather pathetic fashion.

Rebell is en route home to spend the rest of his life with his parents in his native Latvia. From Los Angeles, he will proceed overland to New York and thence home to Windau by steamer. He plans to sell the Elaine before leaving for New York.



—With his entire knowledge of navigation acquired from a three-week study of books, Fred Rebell, below, of Australia, sailed the 8000-mile route from Sydney to the coast of California in his 18-foot skiff, the Elaine, shown above. The perilous trip required more than a year.

Pictures Of Oil Town, Borger, In P. P. H. S. Museum

Pictures of Borger, Texas, sensational oil town which sprang into national prominence a few years ago because of its phenomenal growth and lawless element bringing it to the attention of Texas Rangers on numerous occasions, have been donated to the Panhandle Historical Society by Mrs. Martha Ogles, now a citizen of a highly civilized Borger.

The pictures will prove valuable in making a permanent record of the growth of the oil industry in West Texas and the Panhandle where towns and cities sprang up over night to become industrial centers.

Mrs. Ogles, formerly Miss Martha Caldwell, is an ex-student of W. T.

Freshmen Fail In Garnering Points Against Sandies

Mitchell Jones' freshman squad of basketeers played an exceedingly good brand of defensive basketball last Friday night against Amarillo's Golden Sandstorm five, coached by Davis Hill, ex-Buffalo star, but ended the game on the short end of a 39-20 score.

A total of 23 players were used by the two coaches, Jones in hopes of finding a scoring combination, and Hill in trying out an abundance of applicants for starting positions. The Sandies will be "one of the teams to beat" when high school teams from over the Panhandle gather here for the High School meet next month.

Dunaway, Sandie guard, was high point man with nine. McElroy, freshman center, was high for the Jonesmen with six.

W. T. Seniors Do Outstanding Work Practice Teaching

Estill Foster and Vernon Baker, W. T. seniors practice teaching in sixth grade history at the Canyon Public Schools, have just completed an interesting project in connection with their work.

They are both teaching Texas History and are thus able to combine their efforts. As a climax to the semester's work, both classes co-operated in producing a thirty-two page magazine dealing with Texas history. The magazine consists of articles written by the pupils, and is profusely illustrated with pictures and cartoons drawn by members of the classes talented in art. The magazine was duplicated on a mimeograph, and a copy was given to each pupil.

Another interesting part of their project was the making and conducting of a small museum of Texas history. Each pupil brought any material of historical value and interest that he could obtain. The material, which proved to be rather quantitative, has been placed in a room in the Canyon Grade School Building for display.

There are people who, if they aren't bad off, think they are, and that amounts to the same thing.

The fellow who "doesn't think" saves a lot of trouble for himself and inflicts it upon others.

Unique among the party ideas developed among Canyon hostesses was the White Elephant party given Friday evening by the members of the Bluebonnet club in entertainment of their husbands at the W. H. Upchurch home, 1111 Seventh Avenue.

The exchange of White Elephant gifts was one of the hilarious events of the evening. Five tables were placed for forty-two and at the conclusion of the play a dessert course of pie and coffee was served.

LOYALTY

Loyalty has been the theme of poets and fictionists for years. It is a priceless human trait, sometimes demonstrated more forcibly by dumb animals.

Few people appreciate the value of loyalty in living a well rounded life. Loyalty to home, job and country are essential if a man is a good citizen. Without this attribute, he has few real friends.

It goes without saying that community loyalty is of equal importance with loyalty to country, tho' it does not call for the same type of sacrifice that is sometimes demanded of those who are loyal to their native or adopted land.

But loyalty to community does call for some sacrifice. It demands that we remain true to the place where we live even in the face of adverse criticism.

Loyalty for home means support of home projects and all institutions which belong to our community. It means standing by them even though it costs something. Any community that is worth living in deserves the loyalty of every citizen.

Low speed justice is not likely to develop into high speed law enforcement.

Campus Life In Other Lands Will Be Chapel Subjects

Campus Life in Spain, England, Scotland and Germany are the subjects which the Lloyd Green Allen Scholarship Society at the College have chosen to present at at a series of chapel programs which will be given between this time and the first of April.

Spain, the country chosen for the first of the series, given Tuesday, is a land where college life is very different than in America, according to Miss Hudspeth, who said she could not describe campus life there, because the University of Madrid which she attended, has no campus. Miss Hudspeth described the faculty, living conditions and buildings and manners found in a Spanish university community.

A tango, typical Spanish dance was a colorful feature of the program, with Mrs. Gordon McCarty and Miss Frances Usery dancing, and Miss Jessie Loudder playing.

Ramon Williams, student from Amarillo, introduced Senorita Maria Flores, a native of Mexico, Jose Castillo, an American citizen, son of Mexican parents, and John Cooper, all of Amarillo, who furnished several musical numbers, Miss Flores singing with guitar accompaniment. She appeared in Spanish costume.

Miss Hudspeth was introduced by Ernest Cabe, an officer of the Scholarship Society.

If present plans mature, the final program of this series will depict school life in the Panhandle from the time of the earliest cow-boy supported schools to the present. Material for this program will be found in the archives of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society.

SIGNING YOUR NAME

With more frauds in circulation in this country than ever before, citizens who want to escape the loss of hard earned money, will be doubly careful today as to where and when they sign their names. Don't sign any paper until you have first read it very carefully and until you understand the conditions you are agreeing to. Don't sign until the salesman has put in writing all the promises he makes verbally, and make certain you are not signing a wage assignment by mistake. In other words, know exactly what you are signing for, what it is going to cost and if you are actually able to afford it. Remember above all else that a written contract is binding but that a salesman's promises are not. Some pretty slick salesmen and promoters are waxing rich these days through the willingness of some people to sign a paper of some kind without knowing exactly what it says. Don't you be one of the "easy marks." Make sure you know all there is to know before you touch the pen.

A San Francisco girl was awarded $5,000 damages after an auto accident that deprived her of ability to cry. For one of the weaker sex to be paid because she could-nt cry seems strange—it's usually the other way around.

Girls are urged to remember that they can paint on a blush but a smile is something that never can be bought in jars.

WHAT A GIFT!

The Rotarian: Had we power to give the average city or town one gift, this New Year's season, we would give it freedom from gossip. That gift would mean more for human happiness in homes and community than a million-dollar factory or a bumper wheat crop on a dollar market.

Gossip, plain devil-tongued talking about other people is an outstanding social curse of our day. More homes are broken, more happiness is ruined, more careers are downcast, more banks are closed by the careless repetition of guesses, rumors, scandals, half-truths, and untruths than by any other one cause.

Men used to repeat a bluff that only women gossiped. It would be foolish to pretend that today. Women know better. The worst of it is that gossip now assumes a cloak of respectibility. True conversation has become poverty-stricken. We have become afraid to admit that we know anything. We speak nothings. We gossip.

Gossip does not require sustained mental effort. Gossip is not a product of menial processes, but only proves a vocal agility and a morbid attic. Gossip is chatter. Gossip is giddiness grown old.

Gossip proceeds from jealousy, grows heavy on guesses, thrives on hurried whispers, and waxes juicy on "I told you so's." Gossip deals in dirt.

Gossip is a leech. It sucks the lifeblood of happy human relationships.

Gossip lurks. In sunlight gossip would wither like mould. Gossip rattles the skeletons in the closet; does not tread the open street.

Gossip is a coward. Confronted by truth, it slinks away like any masquerading cur.

Gossip is a traitor. It sticks like pitch and tar to the one who traffics in it.

Can a community go forward whose members seek first the latest scandal? Have men and women who bear tales any leadership for youth?

Gossip has this one saving weakness; it has no use for you if you have good use for your time. Gossip always shuns the poor; and tires quickly of inattention.

Most reforms call for collective action. Many call for money. The conviction of gossip is an individual matter. One man or one woman can be an executioner of gossip. It takes people to create gossip; people can stop it by the simple process of starvation.

Any community which substitutes true neighborliness for gossip, sincere helpfulness and friendship for scandal-monging is on a good, smooth road to happiness and success. Each one of us can be a Santa Claus.

There are no railroads on the island of Iceland.

With Stars Trying for New Metric Distance Records, the New Indoor Track Season Should Be Unusually Interesting

BY PHILIP MARTIN

WITHIN the next three months track athletes from all over the country will take part in some 30 indoor track meets in an assault on time and new metric distances.

More than usual interest will be displayed in the indoor events this year because they will be run over the new distances adopted by officials of the Amateur Athletic Union last fall. While there have been records set over the new distances in foreign countries, there are no accepted marks for the metric events in the United States. Races have been run on yard measurements heretofore.

Therefore, nearly every meet will see the chalking up of new records in the various metric events.

• • •

THE indoor season gets under way Feb. 4, when the Millrose Games are staged in New York. Following this meet are those of the New York A. C., Feb. 18; National A. A. U. championships in New York, Feb. 25; the I. C. 4-A championships in New York, Mar. 4; and gatherings in Philadelphia, Boston, Chicago, Cleveland, New Orleans, Hamilton, Ont., and other cities.

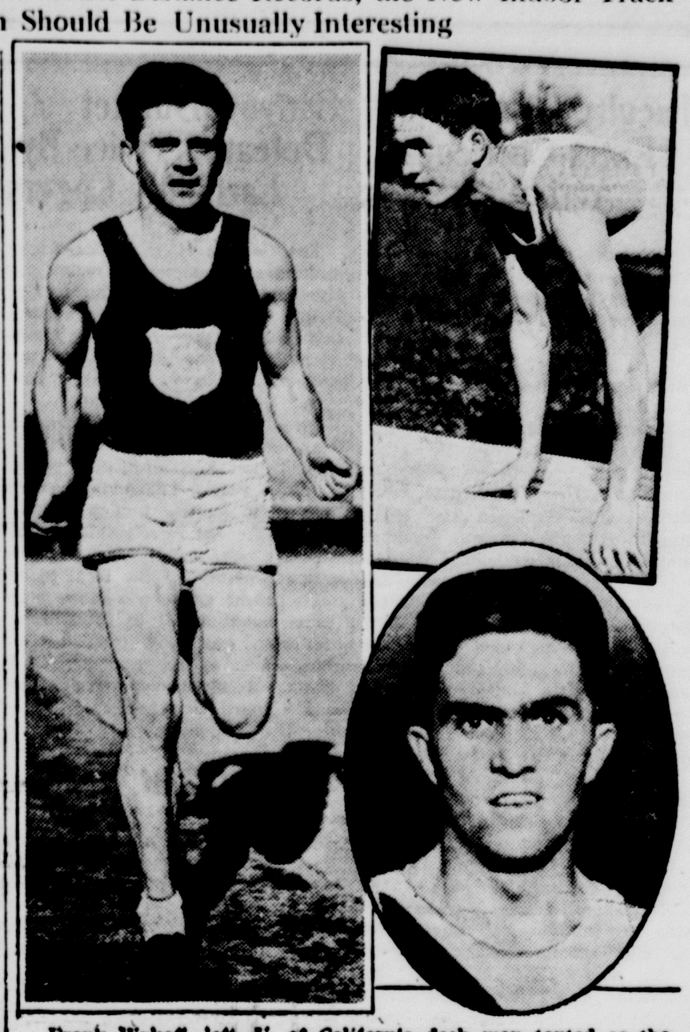
These meets will bring the pink of the country's track men together.

Frank Wykoff, sensational dash man of the University of California, trained by Coach Dean Cromwell to take the title of "World's Fastest Human" after doing the 100-yard dash in 9.4 seconds, is to enter his first indoor event in the Millrose Games.

Two of Frank's toughest opponents will be Emmett Toppino, the Loyola University of the South flash who walked away with the indoor meets last season, equaling the world's mark of 6.2 seconds in the 60-yard dash six times, and Ed Siegel, Boston runner who broke the world's record for the 60-meter dash early this year.

• • •

THE distance events, particularly the 1500-meter run, will see another interesting duel. Gene Venzke, University of Pennsylvania freshman who, as a high school boy last year, set a new record for the indoor mile, will compete against Eric Ny, Sweden's 1500-meter champion; Glenn Cunningham, Kansas runner who won the N. C. A. A. mile championship last season; Luigi Beccali, Olympic 1500-meter winner, and Woolsey, of Illinois University.



Frank Wykoff, left, U. of California dash man touted as the "world's fastest human," and Gene Venzke, above, right, U. of Pennsylvania track star, are expected to meet plenty of tough competition at the indoor track meets this season. Joe McCluskey of Fordham, bottom, right, Olympic 5000-meter luminary, should have things his own way, barring the unexpected.

The Pacific coast is expected to send two track performers east for the indoor season. They are Bill Miller, Olympic pole vault winner, and Walter Marty, young student of Fresno State College who has cleared 6 feet 7 inches in the high jump.

Joe McCluskey, Fordham's entry in the 5000-meter Olympic event last year, is expected to have things his own way in this event during the indoor season. But some young sensation is likely to rise from the ranks and rudely interrupt Joe's winning streak.

THE big test of the metric system will come with the running of the indoor national championships at Madison Square Garden, New York, on Feb. 25. On that night the track men will be fighting for the first complete new set of metric records in the following events:

Sixty-meter dash, 65-meter hurdles, 600-meter run, 1000-meter run, 1500-meter run, 3000-meter steeplechase, 5000-meter run, 2900-meter medley relay, 1600-meter medley relay, running high jump, running broad jump, pole vault, shot put and 35-pound weight throw.

Discover Ancient Sculptures

One of the greatest archaeological discoveries of all time was made in the ruins of an ancient Persian palace at Persepolis when magnificent sculptures were uncovered recently by members of the Persian expedition of the University of Chicago's Oriental Institute. The sculptures, some of which are shown above on one of the great monumental stairways in front of the palace, were undamaged despite the burning of the palace in 330 B. C. by Alexander the Great. A close-up of one of the sculptured figures brought to light by the excavation is shown inset.

College Stunts to Be Given Tonight at the Auditorium

"All College Stunt Night," a biennial affair when townspeople and students and out of town visitors throng the college auditorium to get a dollar's worth of fun for a dime, will be tonight, and Miss Ruth Lowes who has been assisting the groups which will provide stunts this year, reports that more work is being put on the entertainment this year than ever before.

The judges, Mayor C. R. Burrow, Rev. E. C. McKenzie, pastor of the Church of Christ, Coach J. H. Barksdale of the Canyon public school staff, Mrs. Harvey Cash, and Mrs. Clyde W. Warwick, will have a difficult time choosing the best stunt from the six competing numbers. The competitors for the prize will be the T-Anchor company, representing the boys of the College farm; the Home Economics Club; the Phidias Art Club; the Scholarship Society; Kappa Omicron Phi and the Woman's Athletic Association.

The final event of the evening's ten-cent entertainment will be a faculty stunt, under the direction of Miss Rosalie Leslie, but this will not be entered in the competition. It is expected to be the crowning number and to send even the competitors who lose to their homes in a good humor.

There will be no gap in the program, for the Canyon Novelty Orchestra, consisting of Elzie Price, E. C. Hawes, J. C. Marshall and T. C. Furlow will furnish music for the evening.

Canyon was well represented yesterday at the good roads meeting held in Amarillo called for the purpose of opposing any plan to divert any portion of the gasoline tax away from the highway fund. Resolutions were adopted against this movement, which will be sent to members of the legislature.

It was pointed out that the Panhandle would suffer the most if the plan was adopted to take away from the available road building fund at this time, as most of the counties in this section have building projects under way.

Telegrams were sent to Austin approving the plan to extend the time for payment of automobile license.

Student Council Devises Plan for Song Books

For several years, Canyon High School has not had song books for their assembly programs.

This year, the Student Council has devised a plan for the buying of song books. Each student that wishes to do so, is buying the "Everybody Sing Book" with twenty of their twenty-five cents library refunds. These books are to be each student's personal property to be carried home at the end of school.

Almost every student signed a pledge card to buy one of these song books.

This will make assembly programs livelier and more enjoyable besides being a valuable piece of property for the individual.

Did You Know?

Did you know that it takes a lot of strenuous effort to put out the Eagles Tale?

Every Monday, we, the reporters, that have study periods the first or second period, after noon hour, meet and work on the paper. After school we meet and work again. Such remarks as the following might be heard issuing from Miss Dickenson's room almost any Monday:

"Hey you! Do you know any personals?"

"Louise, what was that you said about giving credit for making our own headlines?"

"Has any one seen Miss Murrell?"

"Say, I want to copy that 'Who's Who' over."

"Oh, Rubye, when are you going home?"

"Miss Dickenson, have you looked over that article on the Negro Minstrel?"

"Louise, come help me with the feature story."

"Whee! I'm starving! I'll be glad when I'm through."

"Oh, boy! I'm going to get two points on this long article.

This continues until about five o'clock. A chart is kept in Miss Dickenson's desk, on which marks are put down of the number of articles written. The people that have the most marks will receive club pins. We receive extra credit for composing our own headlines provided they are acceptable. We will not receive credit on any article unless fully finished and copied over.

It takes a lot of work to put the paper out, yes; and yet we have a lot of fun and learn to write. So we are paid for all of our work in the end.

Lazbuddy Sextet Drops Two Games To Canyon Squad

The Canyon girls added two more victories to their record last Friday, when they defeated the Lazbuddy Sextet in two games. The first game was played Friday afternoon and the second Friday night.

In the afternoon games the scoring of Joyce Briscoe was a constant threat against the home team, but with Crawford and Schmitz scoring for the Eagles, they were able to outscore Miss Briscoe 34-27. It is a very seldom thing for one person to do all the scoring for their team, but in this game, Joyce Briscoe scored every point her team made. Velma Crawford, ace Eagle forward, was outscored for the first time this year. She scored 19 points, while her team mate, Mable Schmitz was scoring 15 points.

The girls' game Friday night was not a game, but only a half game. Lazbuddy forfeited the game to the Eagles girls just twenty second after the second half started, when the Lazbuddy jumpcenter injured her knee, and was unable to play anymore. The score was 24-11.

Velma Crawford led the scoring parade of this game with 20 points. Joyce Briscoe, Lazbuddy forward, scored 9 points. The excellent guarding by Armor Lee Greenfield kept Miss Briscoe from scoring so much in this game.

Supervisor's Column

Your Money's Worth

The mathematics teachers of the High School have been conducting their work for the year with pronounced success. During the year there have been more than 175 enrolled in their classes, with an instructional cost of slightly more than $1.00 per pupil for the entire nine months. Two full classes are carried on in 8th grade algebra, two in 9th grade algebra, two in plane geometry, and one in trigonometry and solid geometry.

Miss Clark, the head of the mathematics department, holds a B. S. degree from West Texas State Teachers College and a Master of Arts degree from Peabody. She has been teaching in Canyon High School for six years. During that time she has had probably a larger percentage of her students enter college than has any other high school mathematics teacher in the Panhandle. At the same time, the percentage of those who fail in Freshman College Math from this school is negligible. Miss Clark's teaching time is divided into six periods each day, five in conducting actual classwork, and one in doing conference work and giving special help to pupils who are behind with work. In addition to these regular duties, she has helped prepare an exhibit of work which was sent from the Canyon Public Schools to the State Teachers Convention at Ft. Worth. The samples of the work presented there received a great deal of attention and favorable comment from teachers from all parts of the state. Miss Clark is now a member of the committee which is to present to the public of Canyon our annual spring display of work done.

In addition to his duties as Coach and Physical Ed teacher, Mr. Barksdale supervises a study hall and teaches three classes in mathematics daily. He has a B. S. degree from the Baylor University, and there he was a mathematics major. He taught for three years previous to 1932-33, this being his first year in the Canyon schools. Mr. Barksdale's special work comes in the Physical Education department and will be discussed in a later article.

To summarize: it would appear that with the low percentage of failures of its students both here and as college freshmen, and with the low instructional cost, the mathematics department of Canyon High School is functioning as efficiently and as economically as any in the state.

Hereford Basketball Team Coming Here For Friday's Game

Basketball season is just about over for the Canyon High School teams. Only one game is left on the schedule. Bovina has cancelled her games. Friona has cancelled her games, but our old rival—Hereford, has not cancelled her games.

Next Friday night the Hereford Whitefaces will invade the local high school gym to fight it out with the Eagles.

The Eagles have not won a game so far this season but we are going to beat Hereford tomorrow night. Hereford has defeated the Eagles once this year on the Hereford court, but they haven't beat them on their home court yet.

Everyone is urged to come and "root" for the Eagles Friday night when that "red wave" from Hereford comes to town.

Fight 'em Eagles, Fight 'em!

Who's Who

Twenty-five boys come out for basketball. About ten of this number play in each game.

Austin Cone, who plays guard or forward, is a senior and is serving on the Student Council and as senior treasurer. This is his second and last year to play for the Eagles.

Tyson Cox, center or guard, is also playing his last year. Tyson is a senior and is student treasurer.

Ogden Stroud is a senior and playing his last year as center, forward or guard. He, too, is on the Student Council.

Wesley Williams is a junior who plays guard.

Joe Collins, who is a senior and a member of the Student Council, plays center or forward. This is Joe's first and last year to play for the Eagles.

F. A. Thomas, senior vice president, plays forward of guard.

Scoop Elliston, a junior, who plays center, is also a member of the Student Council.

Among the boys who wear unnumbered suits are Jack Burnett, forward; Curtis Elleson, forward or guard; George and Alton Brasuel, T. V. Slack, guards; O. M. Solomon, forward; and Bob Black, forward or guard. Bob, Jack and George are seniors. Alton and T. V. have one more year; O. M. and Curtis two more. George is president of the senior class and he and Bob are members of the Student Council.

A captain is appointed for each game. This plan is giving several boys experience in leading the team.

The grades of five of the boys who came out for football and are now coming out for basketball have fallen; the grades of five more have risen, and the grades of two remain the same. The grades of the boys who did not play football, but are now playing basketball have gone up. Only one basketball boy, Alton Brasuel, made the honor roll.

Last Friday various girl students were seen wearing their clothes backwards, ribbons in their hair and stockings that were not mates. These were new members of the Home Ec. club. They also were seen walking the steps loaded with books belonging to old members. The initiation will be completed Thursday, February 2. The old members were allowed to bring one new member they wished to attend the last meeting of the club.

The article appearing in The Canyon News last week on Dr. Hill's talk to the P. T. A., was written by Robbie Foster, a reporter of The Eagles Tale.

Miss McClanihan discussed "Encouraging and Limiting Participation in Extra Curricular Activities." The point system, types of systems and encouraging participation, were the main points Miss McClanihan discussed.

Canyon Quintet Defeated Twice By Lazbuddy Cagers

The Canyon High School Eagles still have an unmarred record for this season. They continued their losing Friday when they dropped two games to the Lazbuddy Longhorns. The Eagles lost the two games by scores of 22-16 and 20-14.

In the afternoon game the Eagles were unable to overcome a slight lead that the visitors made in the first two minutes of play. Clarence Pyritz, Lazbuddy forward took high scoring honors with 9 points. He was closely followed by Austin Cone, Eagle forward, who scored 8 points for the local team.

The night game was slow, both teams being unable to get started. McCurdy, Lazbuddy captain and guard, took scoring honors with 7 points. Jack Burnett, Eagle substitute guard, led the Eagles' scoring with 4 points.

OUR ASSOCIATES

Every day we are brought into close association with individuals: our fellow students, the faculty, and the patrons of our school. Try as we might we could not live a successful life in isolation.

People thrown in constant contact get on each other's nerves. Thus, in our association with them our interests, ideals, and personalities will often clash. We must push our own feelings and wishes into the background and be as agreeable as possible.

This might be called forced cooperation, which might in turn be termed as civilized living. A person will feel the strain of these unless he has a strong character and a well poised mind.

We think that such advice is not for us, but for men out in the business world, but we will see a way to apply it to our lives and our daily associates. If we meet opposition without showing irritation, live calmly, are generous and good humored, take disappointments lightly, and attempt to make others happy, we will have happy successful and possibly, powerful lives.

Muscle Shoals as It Is Now

Will Crown College Queen in Ceremony Monday, Feb. 27th

Elaborate plans are underway for the coronation of the College Beauty Queen, February 27. Miss Mary Helen Hardin, candidate of the student body at large, was chosen campus beauty last week by Earl Carroll, New York stage producer.

Six beauties, elected in a general student election held last term will take part in the coronation ceremonies. They will have male escorts. The affair will be formal in every detail.

A program of musical and terpsichorean numbers is being arranged for with professional entertainers engaged for the evening. Gene Galle, recently established dancing master in Amarillo, and his sister, who have attained a wide reputation as an exhibition dancing team, will furnish diversion for the ceremony.

The Pi Omegas, girl pep organization and leaders in collegiate activities, are sponsoring the event which will bring to W. T. one of its few strictly formal student affairs.

Following the program to be held in the auditorium of the Administration Building, the reception will be given for the Queen and her court. Students and the general public will be invited to attend.

Prof. Condron To Attend Hemphill County Institute

S. H. Condron has been invited to attend the Hemphill County Institute at Canadian, Texas, January 28. Professor Condron will address the teachers on two important topics of the day.

As his first address, Mr. Condron has chosen as a subject, "The Teacher and His Problems." A phase of this, coming under the general theme of supervision, will be that of teaching the pupil how to study.

A second and more important topic to be discussed is "The Trend in Modern Education as an Outgrowth of the Depression." Under this heading, the W. T. economics professor will cover the reductions in financial support of schools, the contraction of the curriculum, the gradual elimination of poorly prepared teachers, a higher degree of state centralization, the organization of larger school districts in the interest of economy compared to organization in recent years in the interest of education, and, lastly, the increase in size of classes for instruction.

These phases will be thoroughly developed in an attempt to aid teachers in meeting the new difficulties which arise daily.

A news item states that all of President-elect Roosevelt's recent campaign speeches are filed away in Albany, N. Y.—probably under the heading, "Promissory Notes."

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST

GOOD WILL MUST PREDOMINATE

Man or a community may sometimes profit for a time by selfishness and greed, but if his neighbors or neighboring community have the same policy, internal dissension will weaken the social group.

A community composed of a predominance of men of good will and men who give their united strength for the common good, will be a community that will prosper and progress, but if there are several who for selfish reasons want to progress without paying the price paid by their neighbors, they will ultimately fail and weaken the community in which they reside.

In the long run good will has every chance to win in the universal competition for survival and increase, for it is the rule of economy, effectiveness, and power, and fate fights for it.

This community can boast of its large number of men who are working unselfishly for the progress of this county, men who realize that they can grow and prosper only as the town and county progress, and are giving of their time and efforts to make this county and town a more pleasant, profitable and happy place in which to live.

BUFFS SPLIT WITH HENRY'S IN 2 GAMES

Thrilling Games Friday and Saturday at Home Gym.

TAKE FIRST GAME

Second Goes to the National Champs on Saturday.

The most thrilling basketball of the season was witnessed by large crowds Friday and Saturday nights at the Buffalo gymnasium when the Henry's of Wichita, Kansas, three year amateur champions of the United States met the Buffaloes, tallest team in America. The exhibitions were truly a battle between two superior teams, as revealed by the scores, in which the Buffs won the first game, and the Henry's took the second game.

The first night the Buffs jumped into the lead and maintained a margin throughout the game, winning by the score of 29-26. On Saturday night the Henry's took the lead, and never relinquished it, winning by the score of 39-37.

In winning, the Buffaloes may credit their success to an almost airtight defense which necessitated the long distance shots of the Henrys' that appeared spectacular but were in fact less effective than the consistent perfection of the Buffs' guarding and close-in shots.

With Captain Joe Fortenberry getting the better of Pickell in the tip-off battle and holding the dangerous sharpshooter to a lone tally, his mates starred in turn.

A magnificent drive in the last few minutes of play in the second game, inspired by the sensational playing of Edwin Comer and the steadying influence of George Colvin, Buffalo forwards, brought more than 2,000 rabid fans, filling Buffalo Gym to the rafters, to their feet as they sensed a victory for the Maroon and White. The spurt fell short, however, and a second win over the favored Henrys was denied the collegians by the final shot of the time-keeper's gun with a single field goal the margin between winner and loser.

The two games, drawing attendance from over the entire Panhandle, provided the best exhibitions of basketball ever seen in West Texas. Both games were replete with thrills from beginning to end. In neither game did the winner ever hold more than a ten point lead, although in both games the winner held the lead from start to finish.

It was a slender lead, however, of one or two baskets except for a few moments when each visitor spurted only to have his opponent stage a thrilling comeback.

It is doubtful if a single loyal supporter of the Buffaloes felt any sting of defeat whatever in loss of the second tilt. The great fight maintained by Coach "Sad" Sam Burton's men against the odds of a more experienced and supposedly superior squad in every department of play practically eliminated the chill that ordinarily accompanies the loss of a game.

Both teams will enter the National Basketball Tournament to be held in Kansas City in March. If the drawings there permit, it appears likely that the two teams will meet in the finals. If so, the third game of the series begun here will lack none of the rivalry so keenly expressed in the first two games evenly divided.

Figures Are

He had been asked at that time to make a similar discussion at the meet on Thursday of this week, but this talk would not be made. He wished to give the people a number of facts in order that Canyon people may be armed with facts when they discuss the college situation.

The total appropriation for higher education made by the last legislature was $5,824,715, or 36.5 cents per capita. But only 30% of this tax is raised by the state ad valorem tax, and therefore $1,687,000 is chargeable to the taxes on property. For the man with a rendition of $10,000 in real property, he pays $4.50 to all of the educational institutions. Of this amount 17½ cents comes to W. T. The Board of Education claims it can save $2,000,000 by making the proposed changes, which would be a reduction of one-third the total for these colleges. This is not admitted. But if this saving could be made, and this amount added to the scholastic per capita, it would give $1.28 more to the 1,563,000 children in the state. According to the Texas Almanac, the average cost of education from the primary through the high school is $47.30. This varies in counties and in school districts, in some of which the cost runs as high as $200 per pupil. But if this saving could be made, it would mean the average cost would be increased to $48.58, instead of the $17.50 per capita so often referred to by public speakers as the cost of the common schools of the state. The higher the educational levels, the higher the cost.

The plea is being made for a higher tuition for all of the colleges. This will not increase the attendance at the denominational colleges, which are largely sponsoring this movement, as the boys and girls from the country cannot pay the higher tuition. Most of those who attend denominational colleges, the University of Texas and A. & M. are from the privileged classes. To deprive others of the advantages of an education is undemocratic, and un-American.

The average cost of the colleges which the Board of Education seeks to reduce in rank amounts to $249.71, and the average cost of the five institutions which it seeks to keep as standard colleges is $247.20. The figures do not indicate the possibilities of a very great savings.

Calling attention to the report on education in California, Mr. Hill stated that it was made by 14 outstanding American educators working with 84 educators from California. California has seven teachers colleges, the same as Texas. The report for California recognizes the need of teacher training by allowing the teachers colleges to continue for two years as liberal arts colleges, and then for three years as teacher training institutions, issuing B. A. degrees at the end of the fourth year and M. A. degrees at the end of the fifth year. This is the same set up as now at W. T. This is the plan that W. T. would like to continue, although for the present it is agreed that graduate work be dropped in the interest of economy.

Police Slap, but Not on Wrist

He who gets slapped in Indianapolis, Ind., for resisting a cop is likely to find the experience simply stunning. Instead of clubs, policemen of that city are using "slappers," made of a rectangular piece of rubber about a foot long, five inches wide and a half inch thick, with a slot at one end which allows a firm grip. The "slapper," much cheaper than a club, leaves no marks on the persons struck with it, yet it delivers a stunning blow. A policeman is shown above demonstrating its use.

Hobart Receives an Old Map of Plains For Museum Here

T. D. Hobart, president of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society, has just received another interesting relic to place in the museum. It is a map of the Texas-Indian Territory (Oklahoma-New Mexico-Old Mexico, 1871-75.

The map clearly shows routes taken by early expeditions through the country. All battle locations are marked and the dates of the fights and expeditions are on the map. Rivers and streams are named differently than they are known today.

Of interest to residents of the Panhandle are the routes of the Fourth Cavalry troops through this section. The march of General McKenzie in 1872 shows that he passed through where Pampa now stands and then went on to the Canadian river and points north and east. General Custer passed through these parts in 1860, but missed Pampa. Captain Macey brought an expedition just west of Pampa in 1849.

One of the interesting spots on the map marks an Indian battle approximately 10 miles southwest of Pampa, according to A. H. Doucette who studied the map carefully. The name of the fight is missing, also the exact location. Fort Elliott and Adobe Walls are clearly marked.

The map was received by the government.

Professor L. F. Sheffy and Registrar D. A. Shirley spent Saturday in Wellington where they had been invited to speak before a meeting of Collingsworth County Teachers.

Mrs. J. A. Hill and Mrs. T. V. Reeves spent Saturday in Plainview and Hale Center where they were guests of the Hale County Federation of Women's Clubs.
